

Complimentary Parking Information

Parking across the street from the WGA is not free.

As a reminder, please note there is free parking through the alley to the north of the WGA building. We do not validate inside for parking but there are steps to follow to make sure your parking is free. Please read on for these steps.

Pull a ticket from the machine when you drive in. After getting the 1st ticket from the machine, an attendant will hand you a 2nd validation ticket, which will allow you to exit (without paying a fee) at the end of your stay at DocuDay™. It is important to note that you must be in possession of both tickets in order to exit free.

When you get ready to leave, you will need to insert the 1st ticket you pulled followed by the validation ticket you received from the attendant. Don't be alarmed if a balance due appears on the screen after you insert the 1st ticket, the validation will zero that out and the gate will rise, allowing you to exit.

If you did not receive your 2nd ticket (also called the validation ticket) on your way in, it is possible that the attendant has stepped away from their post. In this case, please go to the parking office the garage before you come inside for DocuDay™, and ask the attendant for a validation ticket. The parking office is located just north of the theater, outside, and to your immediate left when you enter the parking structure.
